Home-owners Get Break On '73 Insurance Rates After Action by Board

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Homeowners in nearly every part of Texas will pay lower rates to insure their houses this year, the State Insurance Board has announced.

The board ordered reductions ranging from 4 to 30 per cent Tuesday in rates for extended coverage and homeowners insurance, effective with policies written or renewed Jan. 1.

New Fire insurance rates, with reductions on the order of 7.5 to 10 per cent, will be issued in a few days, the three-man board said.

The only part of the state receiving an increase was the 14-county Gulf Coast, which will have a 4 per cent increase in homeowners insurance rates, a far cry from the 22.4 per cent jump recommended last February by the board staff.

Extended coverage insures one's home against windstorms, hurricanes, hailstorms, explosion, riots, smoke and collisions by aircraft or vehicles.

Homeowners policies include fire insurance, most of the protection afforded by extended coverage, plus liability insurance and reimbursement for losses to burglars.

The new rates will be in effect for at least a year, the board said, with a possibility of some changes within rating territories later in 1973 based on the severity and frequency of hailstorms, which tend to be worse at high altitudes.

Here are the rate changes, by territory:

Extended Coverage (dwellings only):

Seacoast—4 per cent decrease for the 14 counties on the Gulf Coast and 18 per cent reduction for the 14 counties on the second tier back from the Gulf.

Central inland—8 per cent reduction.

North Northwest—30 per cent reduction.

Homeowners:

Seacoast—4 per cent increase for the 14 coastal counties and a 10 per cent reduction for the 14 "second tier" counties.

Central Inland—7 per cent reduction.

North Northwest—20 per cent decrease.

The Central Inland Territory, the state's largest, includes Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, El Paso and Austin.

Included in the North Northwest Territory are Amarillo, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, Abilene and San Angelo.

Gulf Coast counties in the Seacoast Territory are Cameron, Willacy, Kenedy, Kleberg, Nueces, San Patricio, Aransas, Calhoun, Matagorda, Brazoria, Galveston, Chambers, Jefferson and Refugio. "Second tier" counties are Bee, Brooks, Fort Bend, Goliad, Hardin, Harris, Hidalgo, Jackson, Jim Wells, Liberty, Live Oak, Orange, Victoria and Wharton.

"These rate changes are the result of certain changes in the formula applicable to rate making and to the last two years of experience which have been relatively free of storm losses," the board said in a statement.

No figure on how many millions of dollars the rate reductions would save Texas policyholders was available.

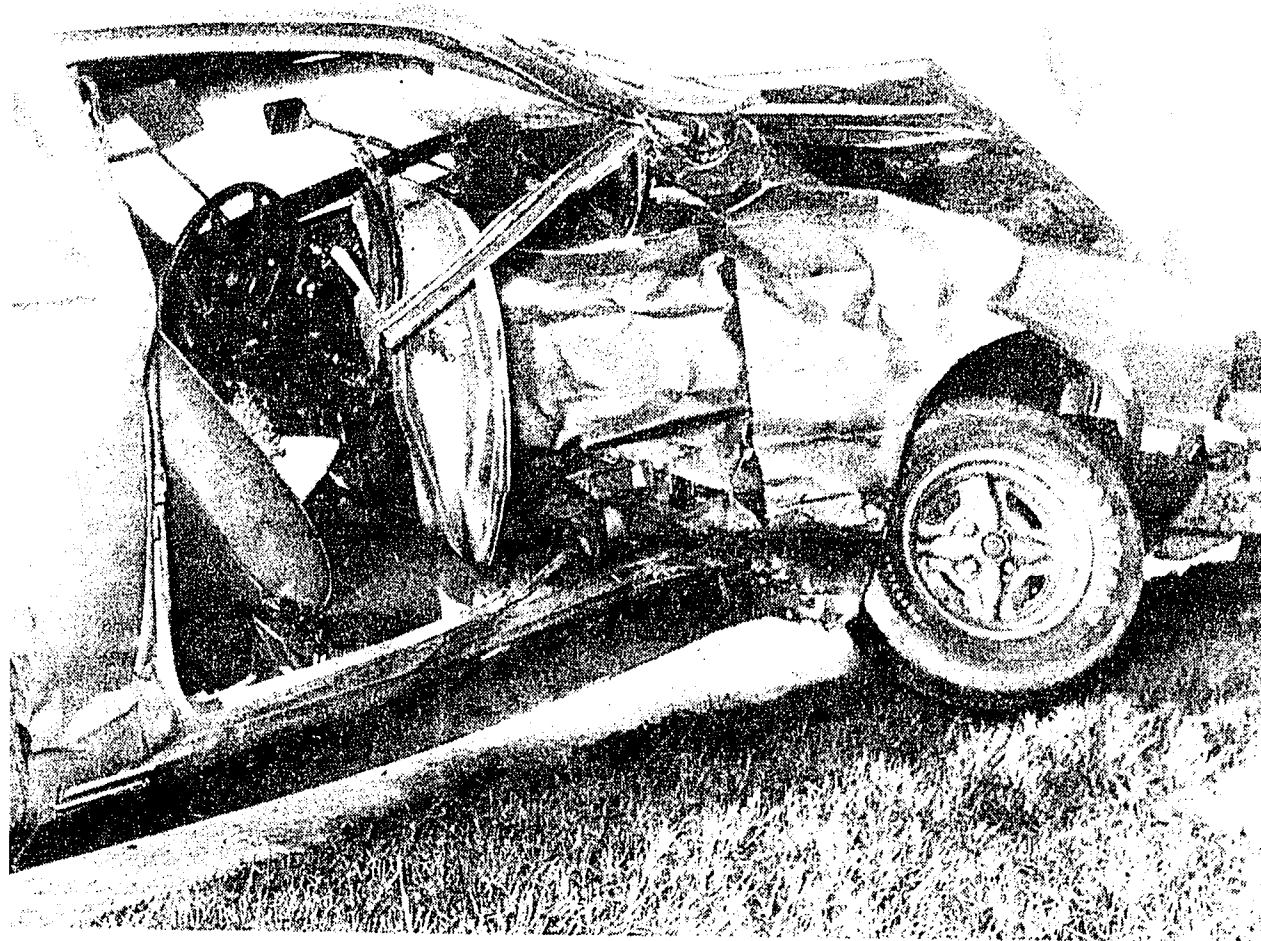

One reason for the reductions was a board decision to cut from 30 to 25 per cent the amount of the premium dollar allotted to such "acquisition costs" as agents' commissions and advertising.

Another reason was a U.S. Price Commission rule that chipped by 37.5 per cent the factor used by the board to keep rates abreast of inflation.

Until Tuesday, rates had been unchanged since July 1971. Last February, the board's staff recommended small reductions in homeowners and extended coverage rates for the North Northwest and Central Inland territories. The staff also recommended a 22.4 per cent homeowners rate hike and a 35.4 per cent jump in extended coverage rates for the entire 28-county Seacoast Territory.

But no rate changes were made last year, as the board put off a decision while it studied its ratemaking formula.

The legislature is expected to consider bills this year that would take the ratemaking power away from the board and let the insurance companies set their own rates.

Lucky To Be Alive

Three persons were injured, one seriously, in a collision of this Chevrolet Vega with another car on the Navarro road near Corsicana Municipal Airport about 8 a.m. Wednesday. James A. McKinnis, Lindale, was being transferred to a Tyler hospital following treatment in Memorial Hospital emergency for multiple fractures of the hips, pelvis and legs. Treated for lacerations of the right leg was Dan Bennett, Tyler, and Mrs. Brenda Sue Vick, 18, Navarro, who had lacerations of the scalp and forehead. Her husband, Ricky Vick, was dismissed after examination. Details were unavailable at presstime from investigating Highway Patrolmen Clayton Smith and Lloyd Allison. Adult Probation Office Opening

By ROB MECKEL
Sun Staff Writer

A new adult probation department which will be working with the district and county courts in Navarro County is in the process of moving into the Navarro County Courthouse with a 26-year-old Blooming Grove native serving as the chief probation officer.

Hugh Nicholson, 26, officially began his duties as adult probation officer on Jan. 1, according to 13th District Court Judge H.D. Nicholson. (The Judge noted that he and the probation officer are not related.)

The probation officer began Wednesday afternoon unpacking books and papers in his new office on the second floor of the Navarro County Courthouse.

The District Judge said that the adult probation department is responsible for keeping the courts informed on the status of persons who are placed on probation and making sure that these people have not violated the terms of probation.

The new probation officer is a 1965 graduate of Blooming Grove High School. He attended Navarro Junior College one year and Arlington State College (now the University of Texas at Arlington), one year before being graduated from Texas A&M University. He and his wife, the former Elaine Talley of Corsicana, and two-year-old daughter Nikki live at 948 Easy St. in Corsicana.

The adult probation department was established here as part of the regional probation program funded by the regional Criminal Justice Council and includes Freestone, Limestone, McLennon, Hill and Navarro counties.

Judge Nicholson said the previous system of probation in Navarro County was for persons on probation to report to the court reporter of the 13th District Court and pay a fee as a condition of probation.

Probation Officer Nicholson said he will keep accurate records on all persons on probation and include in the file a photograph and fingerprint identification. Persons on probation pay a fee not to exceed $10 per month.

Judge Nicholson said interviews will be held at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the grand jury room of the Navarro County Courthouse for persons who wish to apply for the position of secretary to the adult probation officer, juvenile probation officer, assistant juvenile probation officer, or secretary to the juvenile office. The adult and juvenile offices will be separate, he said.

Local REA Cites 'Terrific Blow'

Contacted by The Daily Sun late Saturday afternoon, local REA Manager Raymond Hampel said the ending of low interest loans from tax funds for rural electric service will be a great problem for REA. "I think it will be a very terrific blow to us," Hampel commented.

Hampel said REA will now depend on the National Rural Utilities Financial Corporation for help in financing loans. He said REA is just getting started in this venture, but so far it has proved successful. In the past, REA has paid for the highest percentage of loans, and the Rural Financing Corporation shared 20 or 30 per cent.

"We've always met every problem that came along," Hampel stated, "and we'll have to meet this one." He wasn't certain just how this could be accomplished.

Street Work, Parks Restrooms Planned

The City Commission Tuesday adopted a "revenue sharing" budget required by the federal government indicating the proposed use of the anticipated $245,570 largely for street improvements, plus minor park improvements, and set out the initial 10 streets to be overlaid with new asphaltic surface coverings from the money being received from the federal government.

The adopted budget marks $235,570 of the revenue sharing money for street work and $10,000 for restroom facilities in Community Park and East Corsicana (Bunert) Park and putting in an all-weather road to the East side park.

City Manager Jack Russell said three types of street improvements are proposed: overlaying of paved streets with new asphalt surface on contract basis, sealcoating other streets, and hard-surfacing existing unpaved streets.

Bids had been taken in advance on furnishing the City a minimum of 20,000 square yards of "hot mix" asphalt and laying on streets designated by the Commission.

Russell gave the Commission a tabulation of bids from five contractors terming as "fantastic" a low bid from Hable Construction of Corsicana of 60 cents a square yard for a 1 1/2-inch overlay, which he recommended be accepted.

Bids were taken on a unit price for one inch, 1 1/4 and 1 1/2 inch overlay, and in each improvement project the City will spell out to the contractor what degree of thickness it wants for the overlay.

Hable bid 45 cents for an inch, 52 cents for 1 1/4 inch and, as noted, 60 cents for 1 1/2 inch overlay, and Russell was authorized by the Commission to draw up an open-end contract with the low bidder covering from the minimum 20,000 square yards of hot-mix up to 40,000 square yards.

Unit price bids on the specified three thicknesses from four other bidders included: Golden Circle, Corsicana: 90 cents, $1, and $1.15; Young Brothers, Waco: 54 cents, 66 cents and 78 cents; Uvalde, Dallas: 63 cents, 77 cents and 88 cents; and Downing, Waco: 58 cents, 72 cents and 84 cents.

Proposed as the first group of 10 streets in Revenue Sharing Project No. 1 were the following, with the city's estimate of materials needed and cost per street:

N. Beaton street from Second Avenue to Post Oak creek bridge, 6,755 square yards, $4,053;

W. Collin St. from 13th to 15th street, 2,542 square yards, $1,525.20;

W. Collin from 15th to 18th street, 2,733 square yards, $1,639.80;

W. Sixth Ave. from Main to 15th street, 4,867 square yards, $2,920.20;

W. Fourth Ave. from 24th to 28th street, 4,533 square yards, $2,719.80;

W. 13th Ave. from 15th to 18th street, 5,240 square yards, $3,144;

W. First Ave. from 13th to 15th street, 2,245 square yards, $1,547;

W. Park Ave., from Second to end of the street, 1,800 square yards, $1,080;

18th St. from W. Fourth to W. Ninth Ave., 7,333 square yards, $4,399.80; and Downtown Municipal Parking Lot, 3,000 square yards, $1,800.

This totals 41,048 yards of overlay materials at a cost of $24,828.80. Russell said it had been anticipated the best bid cost on the 1 1/2 inch covering would be around one dollar and this was why he considered the Hable low bid of 60 cents per unit fantastic.

In response from inquiries from the Commission, Russell said the street improvements financed from revenue sharing funds are in addition to the paving and improvement work proposed under the $1,500,000 bond issue which voters approved Nov. 14.

New Women's Editor Tops Changes in Daily Sun Staff

By BETTY JEAN CLAY
City Editor

Three new members have been added to the staff of The Daily Sun beginning in the new year—two in the editorial department and one in the classified ad department.

Editor Sam Pendergrast announced that Mrs. Sam (Nancy) Roberts has joined the news staff as women's news editor, succeeding Mrs. John (Inez) Carlock, whose family is moving to Tulsa, Okla.; and Richard Haddaway, 24, Fort Worth, joins the staff as a general assignment reporter.

Classified Advertising Manager Dick Gibbs announced that Mrs. Phyllis Ann English has been employed as a new classified ad-taker and receptionist. She replaces Miss Christy Crawford, who is moving to Austin to return to college. Mrs. English, a graduate of Wortham High School, attended NJC before joining the newspaper.

A NATIVE OF CORSICANA, Mrs. Roberts is well known to readers of The Daily Sun as a talented musician and composer of church music and worker in drama.

She attended North Texas State University at Denton where she majored in English and studied journalism before returning to Corsicana to attend Navarro Junior College on a drama scholarship. At NJC she was assistant director of plays, working in the college's Arena Theater with the late M.S. Cook and Mrs. Sue Cook.

A piano student since the age of 10, she is a graduate of the Cook School and the Waltham School of Music. While music has been a major part of her life, Mrs. Roberts notes "I've always liked to write since winning an essay contest in high school."

Active in the choir at First Baptist Church, she began added to the staff of The Daily Sun beginning in the new year—two in the editorial department and one in the classified ad department.

Registration for classes at Navarro Junior College is scheduled for Jan. 9-12 at the College's Gaston Gooch Library.

Classes at the college begin Jan. 15.

Male Cows May Be Key to Beef- That's no Bull

WASHINGTON (AP) — Live-stock scientists are tinkering with the sex lives of bulls in hope of finding new ways of producing more beef without using DES, the growth-boosting chemical now banned from livestock feed.

The Agriculture Department said today in the January issue of "Agricultural Research" that if bulls or slightly altered males can be produced with more fat marbling—which indicates grades of meat—they might replace steers as the main source of beef.

One USDA scientist involved in beef cattle experiments told a reporter that the use of bulls, which secrete natural growth hormones, possibly could eliminate all need for synthetic chemical boosters such as DES. The chemical, diethylstilbestrol, has been under fire from the Food and Drug Administration because it has been known for years to cause cancer in laboratory animals. As of yesterday, Jan. 1, only implanted pellets of DES are permitted in livestock and those are under review by FDA.

Steers, which produce most of the nation's beef, are males which have been castrated usually at an early age. The operation eliminates the animal's natural production of testosterone which causes normal bulls to develop rapidly into heavy, muscled male animals.

Steers now hold an advantage in marbling, thus tend to grade higher than bulls," the report said. "However, bulls gain faster and produce heavier carcasses with more lean meat than steers."

Tests were conducted at the U.S. Meat Animal Research Center in Clay Center, Neb., using various forms of sex alteration. Normal bulls, steers and the other animals were fattened, slaughtered and compared for meat quantity and quality.

Bulls and males which had been altered slightly produced 12 to 15 per cent more meat protein and 14 to 15 per cent less fat than steers. They also gained faster, produced heavier carcasses and had more meat cuts than steers.

Victory Nearing In Long Struggle Against Smallpox?

GENEVA (AP) — Final victory seems near in the fight against smallpox, a disease fatal to more people than all wars put together.

World Health Organization officials report "unparalleled success" in their global efforts to wipe out the disease that has killed millions and left countless others blinded or disfigured.

"The vaccine has been available for nearly 200 years, but getting it to remote areas and administering mass inoculations have been major problems in many parts of the world until recently."

The number of new cases has been reduced from 2½ million to less than 200,000 a year since a worldwide drive against smallpox was launched in 1967. The figure may approach zero before the campaign marks its 10th anniversary, the health officials predict.

Smallpox is believed to have started in India and Central Asia and spread westward. Scars like those caused by smallpox were found on the mummified head of the Egyptian pharaoh Ramses VI, who died in 1160 B.C.

The disease had reached spectacular proportions in Europe by the time of the Crusades in the 11th century. For hundreds of years after that, it swept nations with appalling regularity.

A slave of Spanish conqueror Hernando Cortez is believed to have introduced smallpox into America in 1520, producing an epidemic that killed millions.

Smallpox vaccine was discovered in 1786 by Edward Jenner, an English country doctor who noticed that milkmaids who had suffered cowpox seemed immune to smallpox. But it was decades later, after more epidemics including one that killed 41,000 in Britain before smallpox vaccination became mandatory in Western nations.

Business Mirror: Wall Street Optimism Is Natural Now

NEW YORK (AP) — As January begins, a multitude of factors lend support to stock market prices and so, quite characteristically, Wall Street observers, forecasters and their trade are optimistic.

First of course, there is the expanding U.S. economy and the prospect that corporate profits will increase somewhere between 12 and 18 per cent. This offers probably the most substantial support of all.

The past year ended with such a surge of activity at both wholesale and retail levels that many of the negative forecasts of a slowdown by mid-year have been shredded and recycled more positively.

Foreign investors are expected to support the market as the U.S. economy, relative to their own, becomes stronger. Europeans now are undergoing a siege of inflation, and so their money is migrating to safety in America.

The big institutions, mutual funds excepted, also seem to be in pretty sound shape, and institutions, such as pension funds, bank trusts and insurers are of steadily growing importance to stock prices.

One characteristic that buoy the hopes of other investors is that as long as the money comes in, through individual and corporate contributions to pensions, for example, it must be turned out.

The most popular medium for investing these funds is in the stock market, of course. And so, even when prospects aren't very bright, some institutions may be forced to buy stocks so as not to leave their cash idle.

The mutual funds are not so fortunate. In fact, their fate in the past year has been precisely opposite to that of other institutions. They are being bled of investment power by 10 straight months of net redemptions.

A net redemption occurs when money paid out for shares turned in exceeds money received. In November, the latest month for which figures are available, redemptions exceeded sales by $238.3 million.

Most funds can survive these redemptions for many months, and the industry in its entirety can also because it now has assets of nearly $60 billion. But redemptions cramp styles. They deny a fund the freedom to take advantage of good investment opportunities.

Mutual funds, in fact, were net sellers of stocks during November, a result that no doubt can be related to the need to reimburse those fund holders who choose to redeem for cash.

But there are other factors brightening the outlook. Ordinary working Americans continue to build financial assets, despite inflation, and maybe they'll decide soon to return to the market. There is the prospect, anyway.

Radical Mayor Quitting Post

CUTATI, Calif. (AP) — Annette Lombardi, one of three radical candidates who won election to the city council last April, says she is resigning as mayor of this small college town.

"Being mayor involves too much socializing and politicking," she said during the weekend. She has three months left of a one-year term.

Miss Lombardi, 25, and Stephen Loughlin, 25, won three of five council seats, running as a "radical" slate, and Miss Lombardi was elected mayor. All three were former students at Sonoma State College.

"Stopping the destruction of the environment here isn't what I'd call radical," said Miss Lombardi. "But the developers think it's pretty radical, I guess. And I'm under 30, too. That's pretty radical."

Miss Lombardi said she will submit her resignation at Thursday's council meeting, and she is expected to place Dunham's name in nomination as her replacement. She said she plans to stay on the council but will not seek re-election.

City Eyes Water, Sewer Rates, Tables Employee Handbook, Talks Trains

BY BETTY JEAN CLAY
City Editor

After reviewing proposed adjustments to the rate structure for both water and sewer rates to raise approximately 15 per cent more in revenues to retire revenue bonds approved by voters Nov. 14, the Corsicana City Commission agreed to the Jan. 16 meeting.

City Manager Jack Russell had been directed at the Dec. 19 meeting to submit at this meeting a written break-down showing how the water rates would be revised on a graduated scale to produce the additional 15 per cent needed to retire the $450,000 waterworks revenue bond issue, and the same amount of increase to retire the $900,000 sewer revenue bond issue.

Commissioners had no questions about the proposed adjustments in the sewer rates, but Commissioner H.R. Stroube, Jr., contended that the proposed water rate structure was graduated so that the City would be going up primarily on the few larger volume users, from 50,000 gallons on up, and no increase for the many small volume users.

City Manager Russell said Corsicana already sells large volumes of water at less than most cities around and is the only city he knows of that sells water in excess of 10,000 gallons below what it costs Corsicana to produce "and we just didn't feel the City should subsidize everyone in the county and sell water at less than it costs to produce."

PAY LION'S SHARE

He acknowledged that "the easiest way" would be to raise rates on the low volume users, but reminded city officials these users already pay the lion's share and it isn't equitable to place a higher burden on them.

Russell said about 90 per cent of the water customers wouldn't get an increase even though it is proposed to raise the minimum bill from $2.00 to $2.50. Where the present minimum bill of $2 covers the first 1,000 gallons used, the new minimum rate of $2.50 would double the gallonage from 1,000 to 2,000 gallons, Russell pointed out noting that this is, in effect, a cut for the smallest users of water as they pay $2.85 for 2,000 gallons under present rates.

Under the city manager's proposed rate structure, there would be no change in the present rate of 85 cents per 1,000 gallons from 2-5,000 gallons, no change in the 80 cents per 1,000 gallons from 5-10,000 gallons; no change in the 70 cents per 1,000 from 10,000 to 20,000 gallons, nor in the 60 cents per 1,000 from 20-50,000 gallons. From 50-100,000 the rate would go up five cents to 55 cents per 1,000; from 100,000-200,000 gallons the rate would go up five cents to 60 cents per 1,000; from the present rate of 20 cents per 1,000 from 200,000 to 500,000 gallons, the rate would be hiked to 30 cents per 1,000 from 200,000 gallons up to 1 million gallons. All over one million gallons would go up from the present 15 cents to 25 cents per 1,000 gallons.

Commissioner Stroube said

from the telephone calls he had received inquiring about the rate structure changes he wondered if people knew they faced an increase in water and sewer rates along with increased taxes.

PUBLIC SAID AWARE

City Manager Russell was joined by other commissioners and Mayor Sue Youngblood in observing that the public should be aware of this as it had been publicized to the voters before the bond election that Corsicana would need to raise water and sewer rates to generate about 15 per cent more revenue from these sources in order to retire the two revenue bond issues.

"We don't have any choice but to raise rates," Russell said, and this had been made evident to the voters all along.

The sewer rate at present for residential customers runs $1.50 per month plus 50 cents for each additional commode; the proposed rate would increase the rate 50 cents to $2.00 per month keeping the 50 cent charge in effect for each additional commode. The present sewer rate for commercial customers according to a printed resume furnished city officials is based on a somewhat complicated formula. The formula sets the rate for the first 5,000 gallons of water at $1.50, all over 5,000 gallons of water "subtract $5.20 for the amount of water, multiply by 15 and mark off four places and add $1.50 to the total."

COMMERCIAL RATES

Russell proposed that new commercial sewer rates be $2.50 for the first 10,000 gallons of water, then 12 cents per 1,000 for the next 90,000 gallons of water billed, and 10 cents per 1,000 for all over 100,000 gallons of water billed.

The city manager is to prepare an ordinance setting out these proposed rates for preliminary adoption at the next meeting.

City Commissioners set a public hearing at the Jan. 16 meeting on the proposed annexation of a strip of land between Post Oak Creek and W. Hwy. 31, an area of 2.26 acres. The City is initiating the annexation, Manager Russell said for the purpose of extending utilities and making the corporate boundaries on the north side of the highway coincide with the present corporate line on the south of the highway. The area being considered includes the Tom White Chevrolet agency, Little Transfer and Storage, and the newly announced Farmaster Products factory.

A resolution to call a public hearing on annexation of the Green Acres Addition north of town which has been requested by owners of the development was deferred until later, City Manager Russell advised, since field notes setting forth a legal description of the addition's boundaries were not ready.

TABLE REGULATIONS

Commissioners tabled the scheduled final adoption of a personnel regulations ordinance

TO STUDY TRAINS

Commissioners endorsed a motion by Commissioner Nichols calling for renewed study about a problem existing with trains blocking crossings for lengthy periods. City Manager Russell said the City had some other problems, such as rough crossings for which railroads are responsible for maintenance, that need to be taken up with railroads.

Having police cite crewmen of trains that block street crossings beyond the legal time period and the nominal fines that result aren't solving the problem. Commissioners agreed and approved Nichols' motion the city manager be directed to arrange a meeting with railroad officials to discuss problems of both blocking of crossings and the condition of rough crossings.

IN OTHER ACTIONS, the Commission...Passed on final adoption an ordinance granting TP&L a new 20-year franchise.

...Accepted a $6,750 Texas Criminal Justice-federal government grant for a planned operation survey of the Police Department and heard Manager Russell commend Police Chief Don Massey for the successful preparation of the grant application.

Authorized consulting engineers Forrest and Cotton to draw up engineering plans and acquisition right-of-way easements for extending a bond program water line from Lake Halbert to E. Hwy 31 to effect a loop line increasing volume and water pressure for the south and east sections of town.

...Adopted a resolution approving operation by The Villa Apartments.

104 units of rent supplement housing under National Housing Act as a federal rent supplement program.

...Passed on final reading an ordinance closing the east-west alley in City Block 501 between Bunert and Frey streets.

...Approved instituting two-hour limit parking signs on the south side of the west half of the 100 block of W. 6th Ave., and removing of W. 6th Ave. to give all-day parkers a place to park without restricting parking for businesses in the area.

...Gave final approval to a zoning change ordinance granting Thomas Hutchins Residential 4 zoning and a specific use permit for a mobile home located at 1221 S. 18 1/2 St.

with the stipulation it be circulated among all municipal employees and the guidelines it sets forth be explained by department heads to the employees. When asked if all city employees had seen the ordinance and been apprised of its contents, manager Russell said employees in general had but the department heads had.

Commissioners Bob Scott and Stroube said they wanted all employees to know what the regulations are before they are adopted, not after they wanted all employees to know what the regulations are before they are adopted, not after they become an accomplished fact.

In submitting the ordinance Dec. 19 when it received preliminary approval, the city manager had explained the ordinance consolidated in one document policies and regulations, both written and unwritten, that had been in effect for the past 20 years, and proposed only two major changes—increasing maximum longevity pay from eight to ten years and addition of a seventh paid City holiday.

Before tabling the second reading, the Commission approved a motion by Commissioner Gerald Nichols that Sec. 4, Chapter 7, on political activity be deleted so as not to violate any employee's civil rights. This section prohibited municipal employees from seeking nomination or election to public office or working in behalf of any person for any elective or appointive municipal office. While bowing to their wishes, Russell pointed out this is a "standard" regulation most cities have.

ABOUT NEPOTISM

Mayor Youngblood asked about Section 8, Chapter 3, Employment Recruiting, dealing with nepotism. She pointed out Corsicana presently has several employees who are related. Manager Russell replied that the section was designed against nepotism problems arising, but it doesn't necessarily mean that a relative of an employee can't be hired; it just spells out that a department head can't recommend an applicant of a relative for employment without the city manager having prior knowledge of the relationship and the manager's approval.

KCIR Gets New Employee

Lee Fisher has joined the staff of KCIR radio in Corsicana as combination operations manager and program director, General Manager John Green announced Wednesday.

Fisher was with KIVI radio in Beaumont before joining KCIR here, and his previous experience includes KAWA in Waco and stations in San Antonio and Austin.

In announcing the appointment, Green said "We are extremely pleased to have Fisher join us at KCIR. We feel his talent and experience will greatly add to our attempts to serve the Golden Circle Area with the finest in broadcast services."

Fisher said the station's format will be programmed to suit the widest possible audience and that KCIR will continue to program stereo music, BC Network programs, and local news and weather.

The new operations manager and program director is moving here from Dallas.

THD Man Retiring

John Howard Greene, who started to work for the Texas Highway Department in 1935, retires Sunday after almost 37 years of continuous service.

Greene, who has been employed in the Corsicana office of Resident Engineer Jack London since World War II, was recently honored by fellow employees who presented him a gift and surprise coffee and refreshment period before he ends his career.

His work for the Highway Department has been primarily Plan Preparation and Office Management, but also has included some roadway construction supervision. Resident Engineer London noted that since Greene had been in the Corsicana Resident Engineer's Office he has been instrumental in the planning and development of the highway system in Navarro County.

During his early career, Greene worked in the Denton and Ennis offices. During World War II he was on leave of absence to serve three years with the U.S. Army, coming to his Corsicana assignment on leaving military service.

Powell Field To Get Marker

POWELL.—The Navarro County Historical Society and Survey Texas State Historical marker commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the Powell Oil Field will be placed across from the Powell State Bank Sunday at 2 p.m. The Daily Sun will publish a background story later this week giving history of the famous oilfield east of Corsicana.

Tolliver Cleared

On Check Charges

A Corsicana man whose name has appeared numerous times during the past two years in justice and criminal court docket books on charges of defrauding with a worthless check and theft by false pretext has been "cleared" on six of those charges, according to District Attorney Jimmy Morris Thursday.

Tolliver told The Daily Sun Wednesday that someone during the past two years has been forging his name on numerous checks which have added up to about $1,300. He said some of the checks written his name were simply bank drafts and others were personalized checks which had been stolen from him.

Morris said Tolliver was "cleared" on six of these bad checks which added up to about $125 and were for the period Aug. 8, 1971, through Nov. 1, 1971. The District Attorney said a sample of Tolliver's handwriting was sent to Austin, Tex., for analysis and it was determined that the signature on these six checks was not his.

Andersons Hold Family Reunion

In Jester Park

When Mrs. Jim Deere and her daughter, Mrs. Ben Howard, came to Corsicana from Linden, Tennessee, to visit Mrs. Deere's sisters, Mrs. Lillie Adams and Mrs. Helen Adams, it seemed to be a perfect time to hold a family reunion. All the ladies were Andersons before they married, and a meeting of the Anderson "clan" took place in Jester Park two months ago.

It must have been a very successful reunion, as Andersons came from all over Texas. Besides Brady Patterson and Genia Deere, who are from Linden and Lexington, Tennessee respectively, a host of Texas "kin-folks" came to share in the reunion. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Drane, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hill, Mrs. Jewell Godley, Mrs. Idella Godley, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Files, all from Dallas; Mrs. Mae Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Sammie Maddox of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pavelkay, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moyle, and Mrs. Judy Sellers, all from Waco; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harlan of San Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Anderson of Sherman; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Anderson and son, Eddie of Waxahachie; Mr. and Mrs. Bud Iker of Cleburne; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Anderson of Gunter; and Mr. and Mrs. Rommie Raines of Garland.

Local family members included Mrs. Johnnie Drain, Esle Anderson, Mrs. Betty Burkes and son Mark Burkes, Mrs. Laura Burch and son Royce Burch, and Mr. and Mrs. Derrell Adams and sons Wayne and Tommy Adams.

A covered-dish luncheon was served in the park pavilion, and there was no planned entertainment. Anderson family members spent all afternoon "catching up" on events over the years; and that, after all, is what family reunions are all about.
